New Contract

Brady plc (“Brady” or “the Group”) is pleased to announce the recent signing of a new licence contract. Toyota Tsusho Metals Limited, wholly owned by Toyota Tsusho Corporation of Japan, and a category II London Metal Exchange member, has selected Brady to supply its risk management and hedging solution to support its commercial, trading and risk management operations.

This contract is in line with the Group’s strategic plans and the Board believes that it demonstrates the continued success of the investment in building Brady’s routes to market.
